PUBLIC PROCUREMENT IN THE EUROPEAN UNION

Palgrave Macmillan, UK, 2005. Hardcover. Book Condition: New. Dust Jacket Condition: New. First Edition. 312 Pages. NEW. Public Procurement in the European Union provides a comprehensive analysis of legal and policy frameworks that underpin the regulation of public and utilities purchasing practices. The importance of such frameworks is paramount not only for the successful functioning of the common market, but mostly for the conceptual direction of the public sector of the modern European state in its attempts to deliver services to the public in a more effective and efficient way. The author reveals succinctly the interface of two approaches, the economic and policy approaches, that emerge through public procurement regulation at European and national levels, and links their interplay with themes that have recently surfaced as a result of directions from the European Court of Justice. Book Description: Public procurement represents an instrument of policy choice for governments and its regulation interacts with a variety of policies, including the promotion of competition, employment, social policy, and environmental protection. The author vividly elaborates on the built-in flexibility of the newly enacted rules and provides a codified analysis of their interpretation by the EU judiciary. Finally, considerable debate is dedicated to future dimensions of public procurement regulation in the form of public private partnerships and concessions. : About the Author: CHRISTOPHER BOVIS is Professor of Law at the Lancashire Law School and Jean Monnet Chair in European and Business Law. He is Senior Visiting Research Fellow at the Institute of Advanced Legal Studies at the University of London. He has been Visiting Professor of Trade and Commerce at the Queens University of Belfast and Visiting Professor of European Law at the University of Lisbon, Portugal.
