Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 246 pages. Love can be so. . . unexpected. In the spring of 1935, understated beauty Eva Edwards is widowed. A blessing to be sure. Having long since left England, a rare talent for music and notions of love behind, her one focus is keeping her farm and raising a child not her own no matter the sacrifice and struggle. Born of wealth, veterinarian Tate Prescott Brown has come to the dust of Saskatchewan's rural QuAppelle District to find independence and take possession of his farm Eva's farm. Now, in an effort to solve a legal misunderstanding, Tate faces a sacrifice and struggle of his own: to do what he thinks is right by Eva . . . or what's right for his heart. Reviews and Other Information: . . . well written and the characters come to life on the page. There are many twists and turns in the story which keeps the reader looking ahead. I am anxious to read other material by this author. Manic Readers Life is hard - and there's always someone out to make it harder. FROM THE DUST follows Eva Edwards as she tries to run her farm and raise her adopted child. Tate Prescott Brown has come to her farm to claim what he believes is rightfully his - the farm that Eva calls hers. A legal conflict ensues as both try to do what they believe is the correct thing. FROM THE DUST is a charming historical romance novel, highly recommended to fans and community library romance collections. Midwest Book Review The time is 1935 and the setting is remote Saskatchewan. The central character is a woman of achievement who has left all that behind, an intelligent woman who has been reduced to the essentials, and is ready...
